IETF Plenary: Host Howdy

Chris DiBona
Wednesday, November 19, 2008
Who am I?

Open Source Programs Manager, Google Inc.

• License Compliance
• Code Release
• The Summer of Code
• Protocol and API Licensing
Google is proud to be the host of 73
Why IETF?

VINT
CERF

6'1/2
175 LB

HAS A POSSE
Why should Google care about the IETF?

Open Source → Truly Open Standards

The Internet
The Internet's on Shaky Ground

Written by Alex Payne
10/28/2008 30 comments

The Internet is built wrong.

Well, OK, not so much “wrong” as “not the best it could be.” But for all its rationalize a radical departure from the technologies that currently compri

There’s a software engineering philosophy called Worse Is Better that’s be 18 years. In that time, it’s come to mean that an inferiorly designed syste may be more successful than its better-designed competitor, based on su
Why does IETF appeal?

- Rough Consensus
- Running code

IETF helps keep the internet Free
Why IETF?

I CAN HAZ INTERNETZ???

KTHXBAI!
The End

(BTW, my talk is at noon tomorrow, not 1)

cdibona@google.com

http://code.google.com/opensource