

IETF Plenary: Host Howdy

Chris DiBona

Wednesday, November 19, 2008

Who am I?

---

Open Source Programs Manager, Google Inc.

- License Compliance
- Code Release
- The Summer of Code
- Protocol and API Licensing

Google is proud to be the host of 73

Why IETF?

---

VINT
CERF

HAS A POSSE

6'1/2
175 LB

Why should Google care about the IETF?

---

Why IETF: You keep the internet running...

---

The Internet's on Shaky Ground

Written by Alex Payne
10/28/2008 30 comments

DISCUSS  DIGG  DELICIOUS  REDDIT  EMAIL THIS

The Internet is built wrong.

Well, OK, not so much "wrong" as "not the best it could be." But for all its rationalize a radical departure from the technologies that currently compri

There's a software engineering philosophy called Worse Is Better that's be 18 years. In that time, it's come to mean that an inferiorly designed system may be more successful than its better-designed competitor, based on su

Why does IETF appeal?

---

- Rough Consensus
- Running code

IETF helps keep the internet Free

Why IETF?

---

I CAN HAZ INTERNETZ???

КТИХВАИ!

The End

---

(BTW, my talk is at noon tomorrow, not 1)

`cdibona@google.com`

`http://code.google.com/opensource`